REGISTRATION ENDS WITH RUSH, BUT 500 FAIL TO SIGN UP

A last minute rush on the city's registration books kept Commissioners Cyril Glover and Sylvan Ladner working nights for two weeks and all day New Year's eve.

The registration, which ended Dec. 31, was held to clean up the city's records, Glover said.

He pointed out, however, that people may still register although the deadline has been reached. Those registering now cannot vote for four months in city elections, however.

About 1500 people registered, Glover said. This means that about 500 failed to register, since the old books carried about 2000 names. Wednesday and Thursday of the old year saw 250 people crowd into the city hall in an effort to beat the deadline.

In addition, Glover took the registration book around at night in order to get the sick and invalid to get their names on the books.

"It wasn't so bad until the Sugar Bowl activities started on television, Glover said. "Then I would have to stand around on one foot for maybe an hour while the basketball game was in a tie. "I made an effort to sign up as many as I could between rounds of the Sugar Bowl boxing."

A good many people thought he was coming around to get absentee ballots for an election, Glover said. He had some time in explaining that no one was running for office.

The city kept its doors open all day Wednesday in order to take care of the last minute rush. Thursday, which was New Year's Eve, the rush was even greater than Wednesday.

Glover emphasized that residents of Bay St. Louis are still register. He said that although they cannot vote for four months, no city election is expected for the next four months.

However, he pointed out that every delay will mean the sacrifice of voting privileges in case anything does turn up.

Some possible issues that might arise in the near future and be put to a city-wide vote are the zoning ordinance and street improvements.

Glover pointed out that this four-month rule applies only to city elections. The registration has nothing to do with county state or national elections.

Rep. Phillips Sees Chance For A Woolen Mill In Bay; Plans Talk With A&I Board

Hancock County may have a chance to get the American Woolen Co. to open a mill here, State Representative Walter James Phillips Jr. indicated today.

Phillips plans to attend the regular session of the State Legislature which is being held now in Jackson Monday. He said he will meet with the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial board to discuss the possibilities of getting industry to settle in the county.

"We have a lot of natural advantages," Phillips said, "and I noted where the American Woolen Co. is planning to relocate several of its mills down South.

"I don't see why we can't encourage them to put one here in the county," he said.

Phillips said he would also try to get several of his bills pushed through this session. He is especially working on one he introduced last session to reduce the personal tax on automobiles.

This bill, which failed to get out of committee last session, is an attempt to work out a system whereas the people in counties like Hancock where the millage is high will not have to pay so much tax on their cars.

It was opposed last time, Phillips said, by those who did not want to exempt one car per family.

Phillips said he would try to work out something that would get the legislators together on the measure.

Phillips said he had assurances of the highway department that the Kiln-Poplarville road would be hard-surfaced within the next two years. He said that the right of way had already been obtained.

Phillips said he planned to introduce about ten or eleven measures in the House. Among these were:

A bill to regulate and bond real estate agents who accept deposits for property;

A bill to increase jurors fees, especially in eminent domain cases;

A bill to halt charging of more than 25¢ for duplicate driver's license;

A bill to allow state game and fish commission to issue a 3 or 5 day non-resident hunting license;

A bill to authorize the county to pay jurors when the state fails to gain a conviction in justice of the peace court;

A bill to exempt gasoline used on farms, not on the Highway, from payment of the seawall tax;

A bill to have the state take over and maintain the Beach roads. The last bill, Phillips said, is probably a losing effort, but "you're got to try."

He said that he wants the state to take over the bonds and taxes for the maintenance of the roads and seawall.

Phillips also indicated that he would fight a bill that would open the state to the abuses of a major witch-hunt. He said there was a measure pending to set up county villanite committees which would spy on the local citizenry.

The committees, he said, would be appointed, not elected. They would have the power of search and seizure.

Their only identification would be a badge inscribed "Mississippi Law."

Phillips said that a powerful lobby group in the legislature was backing the proposal, and that while it seemed ridiculous, it should be watched.

The bill, he said, would permit these committeemen to walk in anyone's home.

Phillips said the session would take up the financing of school bills which were passed last month in the special session.

Phillips is chairman of the Interstate Cooperation Committee. He said his group will back a bill which will make the pursuit of fugitives of felons law a uniform statute.

Morreale Awarded $5300 In Eminent Domain Case

Vincent Morreale was awarded

$5300 in a suit against the state highway department in an eminent domain case Tuesday in Special Eminent Domain court held by Judge Nelius Rhodes.

The state filed eminent domain suit when Morreale turned down an offer of $2100 for about 150 feet of his property along Highway 90. The highway department wanted to extend a service lane there, attorney for Morreale, Dan M. Russell Jr. said.

The property is located on Highway 90 and Hancock St. where the latter thoroughfare is being extended to the highway.

The case was a settlement with a jury verdict, Russell said.

Bro. Ashton Leaves, TWO TRUCK LOADS OF MEXICANS Bro. Linus Back PICKED UP AFTER SLIDELL ROBBERY At Stanislaus

Brother Linus has returned to Stanislaus College this week to serve as new vice-president. Brother Roland, head of the college, announced today.

Brother Linus returns here after serving at St. Francis School in Houma, La. as assistant principal.

He replaces Brother Ashton who went to St. Francis School in Houma.

Brother Linus has served for nine years as vice-president of St. Stanislaus, during the years 1939-1948, Brother Roland said. At the college he will now assume administrative duties entirely and to do no teaching, Brother Roland said.

The Mexicans, 27 of them, were traveling to Florida from Texas seeking work in two trucks and an automobile.

Constable Nolan Kingston and Deputy Gerald Favre picked them up after hearing a complaint from Slidell, La., Chief of Police C. R. Howze that the group was suspected of attempted burglary on Crow's Buick Station in Slidell.

The Mexicans were traveling through Slidell, according to Kingston when they stopped at Crow's for gasoline. Allegedly, they tried to rob the station, using threat of firearms.

The Slidell Police Chief and B. Schillie, deputy sheriff in Louisiana, traced the Mexicans who were traveling on Highway 90 toward Bay St. Louis.

The Louisiana law enforcers flagged down Kingston and Favre who were patrolling the Hancock County portion of Highway 90. To gether they headed off the truckloads of Mexicans in the middle of the new Bay St. Louis bridge.

Kingston and Favre took the Mexicans—men, women and children into the courthouse at about 8:45 p. m.

Only two or three of the Mexicans could speak English, Kingston said. "We couldn't make anything out of them," he said.

The Mexicans were checked and were found to be carrying several knives, but no gun was discovered.

Because of lack of evidence they were released about two and one half hour after their arrest.

Ken Whitfield aided the search by radioing in to Slidell that the Mexicans were found here and that search in other areas was not necessary.

The Mexicans were part of a work group traveling from Rodtown, Texas to Florida seeking farm work.

Crow, owner of the station, brought down a service station attendant to identify the Mexicans, but Kingston said evidence was lacking to hold them.

Four Polio Cases In '53

Hancock County suffered four cases of polio in 1953 with all four victims being children of 10 years or under, Dr. C. M. Shipp, county health officer announced this week.

Three of the children were stricken in the summer months, Dr. Shipp said.

The children attacked by the dread disease were Edward Burge Jr., 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burge; James Wagner, 6 weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wagner; Jordan Bradford, 9, and Lonnie Schultz, 7 son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schultz.

Mayor Backs Peak Drive To Prevent Polio

Pledging 100 per cent support to the 1954 March of Dimes, Mayor John Scafield today called on all citizens to open their hearts and their pocketbooks and give generously.

"The year 1954 may well be the turning point in the fight against polio. We all must help in the battle to banish this crippling disease from our city and our nation," he said.

Town Settles For Smaller Wedding Marilyn Monroe Fails To Show Up

Stanislaus VEEP—Bro. Linus took over this week as vice-president of St. Stanislaus, replacing Bro. Ashton.

It would be fun to be Orleans directly.

Two women completed the party. But Judge Rhodes, who married the pair, said the witnesses were "quite elderly, and definitely not the Marilyn Monroe type."

The New Orleans States called the Echo when it received a tip from Moisant Airport that Miss Monroe had landed and secretly hired a U-Drive-It car. With her was supposed to be Rock Hudson, another movie actor.

Later the States reported that it was Marilyn Maxwell, not Monroe, who accompanied Hudson. Then, as it turned out, Hudson was driving to Mobile to see his grandparents.

But still it was a lot of fun for all but the Carders.

Would you still like to be Marilyn Monroe?

Gene Aime
Wedding Has Xmas Setting

The marriage of Miss Eugenie Claudia Aime, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Aime of this, to Andrew Scafid, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Scafid, also of Bay St. Louis, took place at a high nuptial mass in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Dec. 28.

The Reverend H. Joseph Jacobi officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mass was said by the Rev. Father Francis X. Toner of Camden, Miss.

Miss Irvy Ladner was soloist. Candles cast a glowing light over the beautiful Christmas decorations of the church, which was adorned with poinsettias, greens and contrasting white blooms.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of Chantilly lace with pleated nylon-lace ruffles. The bodice was close fitting and resigned with a high neckline accented by seed pearls and sequins in a flower design. The full skirt of lace over satin fell in graceful folds to a long train. A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held in place her full length veil of illusion.

Miss Aime carried a white orchid and lilies of the valley bouquet attached to a prayer book used by her grandmother at her first communion.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Lou Scafid. Bridesmaids were Miss Joanne Lang and Miss Ann Schmidt of Pass Christian. They were dressed in green taffeta, hoop skirted gowns, beautifully Christmas-like with their contrasting bouquets of poinsettias. The dresses were off the shoulder, with matching stoles attached. Their headresses were of green velvet leaves sauced with sequins. Lawrence J. Jacobi, uncle of the bride, was best man. Groomsman were Gregory Favre and Andre Arceneaux. Ushers were Vic Aime, Carlo Scafid and Alvin Scafid.

At a reception following the wedding, Mrs. Aime received wearing a teal blue dress with brown accessories and a brown orchid corsage. She was assisted in receiving by the mother of the groom, who was dressed in brown and wore an orchid of the same color.

Also receiving were the grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. J. Scafid, Sr., and Mrs. V. E. Lizana. Mrs. Lizana wore a white dress with a navy dress. Her orchid was lavender. Mrs. Scafid chose navy with black accessories and wore an orchid.

The five-tiered wedding cake, centering a lovely refreshment table, was topped with a bride and groom, dressed in identical fashion to that of the principals. Decorations of white and green were used exclusively at the reception.

The bride wore for her wedding a red and black velvet dress topped with a red poodle cloth jacket, black accessories, accented with red stitching and a red hat.

Following their honeymoon the couple will live at 112 Court St. The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy. Mr. Scafid attended St. Stanislaus.

One of the prominent social events of the holidays was the egg nog party given by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Blair at their home in Waveland.

The event, to which a few friends of the family were invited, honored Dr. and Mrs. William B. McMillan of Cleveland, Tenn., the Blairs' daughter and son-in-law who were visitors for a few days at the home of their parents.

The bodice, topped by a high neckline and small round collar was close fitting. The long sleeves were long and pointed at the wrists. Bands of the Chantilly lace were extended in a pointed design in the tulle of the full skirt. The veil of imported illusion was held in place by a small crown of seed pearls. Chantilly lace also banded the veil at the fingertips. The bride wore matching satin slippers and carried a white chrysalis rosary and a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, lilies of the valley and a white orchid.

Attending the bride was a sister, Mrs. Levy Ladner of New Orleans, matron of honor, and Miss Flora Taconi, bridesmaid. Both wore ballerina length gowns of embroidered aqua silk, made with bustle effect. Their satin slippers matched the aqua of the gowns. The attendants carried round bouquets of white flowers and wore matching blooms in their hair.

Best man was Charles Staehle of this city and groomsman was Russell Simons of New Orleans.

A brother-in-law of the bride, Levy Ladner of New Orleans and Forrest Stevens of Bay St. Louis were ushers.

Following the wedding a reception was held.

A cutwork cloth was used for the beautiful refreshment table centered with a tired wedding cake. Palms and flowers were used as other decorations for the occasion.

Blood Bank

The Hancock County Blood Bank, off to a fast start, still needs more volunteers. The American Legion, the big gun in this fight against death plans to bring in many more persons to be put in this is not a job only for the legion. This is a job for the county.

Put yourself in this position: One of your dear ones is in a condition. She needs blood. They can't find a donor fast. And you think back—"Did I volunteer to help others?" The answer must not be "No." Because if it is, only you are at fault.

Blown Up Mailboxes

Kids who blew up mailboxes with firecrackers feel it's just a fun. But the United States government takes a different view.

Another Asset

Work is scheduled to begin now on beautification of the Yacht Club. This is another step forward in making Bay St. Louis a more attractive place to live. The two yacht clubs here—the Bay-Wave and Pass Christian Clubs—have become focal points for social life as such they're genuine attractions to persons considering to this area.

Keep Plugging

Bay St. Louis Commission council is not giving up easily in its fight to wangle better service from the L&N Railroad. This is the railroad must understand that this is a sincere bid for service and not just a "nuisance raid."

L&N is the only rail link to New Orleans and to other East Cities. So this gives the road responsibilities it would not have if it were not a monopoly.

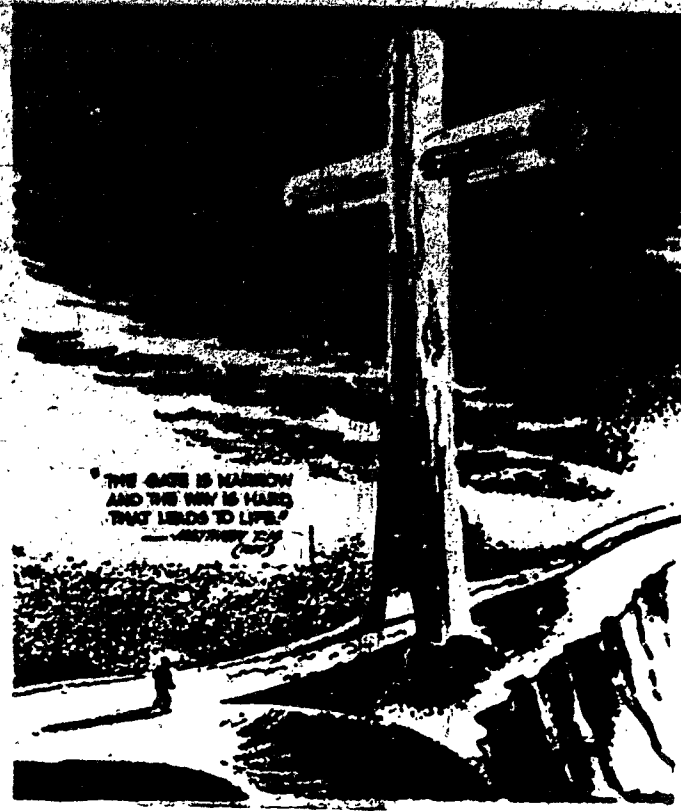

True that no one has the right to force the L&N, or any other private business, into bankruptcy. It is also true that the right to know just what business it would get from service.

Perhaps the only solution is an open hearing with the public commission.

TALMAGE SAUCIER WITH GOV. WHITE

GOV. WHITE HONORS SAUCIER, RETIRED GAME WARDEN FROM PASS

Gov. Hugh White personally honored Talmage Saucier, former Harrison County game warden who is now retired at Pass Christian.

Saucier went to Jackson for the ceremony. He talked with the governor and then went across the street to the Game and Fish Commission to talk with old friends.

"I've always felt young," he said. But what will he do now that he's retired?

"Nothing," he said. "My wife retires from teaching in May. We'll take trips. I love to have a good time. I've loved the woods. I've loved looking at bathing beauties too."

Sixty years ago in Harrison county "There was plenty of game and you didn't have to go far to get it. Pa could shoot a deer not far from his back door."

"Back in those days you could buy an acre of timber land here for $125."

Mr. Saucier was a game warden for 30 years. He finds hunters who are kinds of people, rich and poor.

"I've arrested beggars who claimed they were hunting for food. I've arrested a man who carried a Browning automatic shotgun in-laid with gold worth $450. He had no license. "And I told him, "You mean to tell me that you can afford that gun and you can't afford a license."

Mr. Saucier was in the mercantile business for 15 years. One

TOMORROW'S HOMEMAKERS can count on Gas

There's no fuel quite like natural gas for the big jobs in the home... jobs like clothes drying and water heating, cooking and heating, refrigeration and air conditioning. Gas never lets you down, it's convenient, it's economical.

There's lots of natural gas here in the Gulf South—not just for the homemakers of today, but for the Little Miss Muffets who will be homemakers in the future.

And the search for additional gas reserves goes on. Every year, gas and oil producers invest millions of dollars drilling for gas. There's a business in the real American tradition... a keenly competitive business which has been free of needless regulation by governmental bodies... one in which initiative and hard work have paid off. Let's keep it that way, and be sure of gas for the future.

Budget-wise families agree that natural gas service is the biggest bargain in the home today—worth every cent they pay for it... and then some!

COASTING

By ANNE ORLEANS

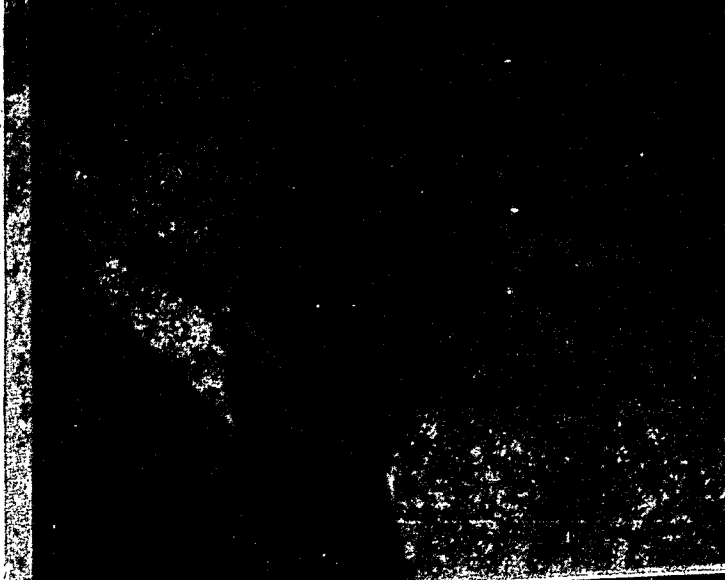

The beautiful sunny New Year week end brought everyone out into their yards to trim old plants and start new ones. Can you think of a nicer way to start the New Year?

Dularde and Yvonne Claiborne have always loved the Coast and today their house, on Nicholson Avenue is as much home to them as the old Claiborne family home on Esplanade Avenue in New Orleans.

Camellias are their hobby. This started about ten years ago when Dularde was recovering from a serious illness and to get away from his work they took long drives around Louisiana and Mississippi. Wherever they went they brought small camellia plants and brought them over to their Nicholson Avenue grounds. Today they have 450 camellias of all types and colors. Some of the trees are now six to seven feet high.

Among their favorites are the Debutante, High Hat, C. M. Wilson among the pink varieties. The Alba Plena, Morning Glow, September Morn and Elizabeth among the white ones and the C. M. Hovey, Purple Dawn, Jane Grey and many others among the red and combination colors. Some of the trees have already cut between 300 and 400 blooms from their Debutante trees. In a few weeks, the whole garden will be a blaze of beautiful colors.

Lacey and Genevieve Richeson were working in their garden the past weekend. They have some of the loveliest old-fashioned varieties of the deep purple variety. They have put in dozens of sasanquas and azaleas. They are going to plant a whole hedge of oleanders on their new drive way to the beach and when Spring comes will have a brand new pier on the water front.

Dr. and Mrs. R. P. West, of Madison, Wis., are spending the winter months on the Coast. They have been visiting for many years and hope to make this their permanent home in a year or two. They own property in Waveland and their own home is a lovely one.

The B. R. Gregorys who always come over from New Orleans for a two-week visit for Christmas and the New Year, have been quite busy putting in additional hydrangeas. Alfred and May Antz paid them a visit for the New Year weekend and were put to work raking up oak leaves and pine needles to put around the azaleas.

Col. and Mrs. Marcel Gillis who spent the first part of the winter in Winterhaven, Fla., came back to Waveland and New Orleans for the Christmas and New Year family gatherings. They will be in New Orleans for the wedding of one of Mr. Gillis' nieces in January but plan to return to Florida. They will spend the rest of the winter at Bradenton, their favorite vacation spot, where so many retired Army officers and their families have homes. This spring when you ride along the beach, look for the lovely yellow roses all along the fence of the Gillis property.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hava, back from a round of New Year parties in New Orleans, are enjoying their lovely camellias and hoping they will not bloom too soon as they always enter a camellia exhibit for the Coast and New Orleans flower shows. They have many blue ribbons for past exhibi-

Polio Dance Benefit, Jan. 18

The Alpha Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will sponsor a dance for the benefit of the polio fund on Friday January 15.

The event will be held at Ben- nie's at Henderson Point, with tickets priced at one dollar.

When the Spring comes, the T. C. Harveys will practically have a brand new house as the old one is being completely done over. They are doubling the size of the living room which will connect with a glass enclosed porch with folding doors between them. Radiant heat is being installed. The garden around the house will have to be re-planted with new and colorful plants.

The Ben Moises enjoyed the sunny weekend at their cottage on Sears Avenue. The martin houses are all ready for any new bird tenants who care to apply.

Mary Katherine Mollere, now visiting in Jacksonville, Fla., is flying to Munier, Germany, to join her husband, Lt. Otto Mollere. They are planning to visit as many European countries as possible on week ends and for their vacations.

A brand new little girl Deborah Jo, arrived at 12:30 midday on New Year's Eve to help the Lester Williams celebrate the New Year. Mrs. J. B. Stovall of Woodstock, Ill., Mrs. Lester's mother, and little Sharon Lester kept house on Aiken Road while mother and little sister were in the King's Daughters Hospital.

Buyers' Mart

You probably know that Miss Levita Engman makes things. And you probably know, too, that this column is very partial to things the people around here make.

Well, anyway, we took a look at some of the products this lady turns out in practically non-existent spare time. That is, when she isn't busy working at Engman's Store on Booker Street or at home next door.

In Engman's she has displayed some of her ceramics. Lots of them are made strictly for souvenirs of Bay St. Louis. But some, and we have in mind a little vase-pitcher affair, are just right for a small gift purchase. That's particularly true in this lean period right after Christmas, when you some times have to purchase a gift or bridge prize and don't much like the idea of spending money.

These little ceramics cost in the neighborhood of a dollar and are pretty and very distinctive. Miss Engman also does up a wonderful products called foot warmers. These are soft, wool socks, meant to be worn in bed when the days and nights are very chilly. These sell for $2.29 a pair and Miss Engman has a hard time keeping up with the orders once a buyer has tried them.

There are also lovely gift towels sets, made with a pocket crocheted on the towel to hold bath cloths. These cost $2.50 for the set. Miss Engman paints a variety of pretty scenes and patterns on aprons, to dress up the old household garment for a party. The aprons cost two dollars, after undergoing this giddy treatment.

Where the Engman fingers must fly, however, is in the baby department.

This lady sells bottles (from 75 cents a pair and up) and saques both from her supply on the counter and to order.

"I'm a real copycat when it comes to these things," says Miss Levita. "People just bring me a picture of what they want for the baby and I copy it." The little saques we priced were three dollars in all the well known pastels. And they looked like just what they were—a lovely handmade gift for the nicest little people in the world.

Party Nets $119 For March Of Dimes

A benefit party for the March of Dimes held by Mrs. Conrad Sick and Mrs. Chester Schultz netted $119 Wednesday night, Mrs. Schultz said today.

The party was held at the home of Mrs. Sick on Dunbar Avenue and Boardman.

"We had as many people as we could handle in the home," Mrs. Schultz said.

The party was held to raise money for the March of Dimes Campaign which is currently underway. Mrs. Schultz's son, Lonnie, was a recent victim of infantile paralysis, and is now in a New Orleans hospital.

Mrs. Schultz said she was holding the party in an effort to show her thanks to the March of Dimes in aiding her son when he needed it.

Prizes for the party were donated, enabling almost all the receipts to be turned over to the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Schultz and Mrs. Sick expressed their thanks to everyone who contributed to helping the benefit.

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Starts Work On New Pier, Beautification

Approximately $2500 in improvements will be spent this month by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, Bernard Farrelly, manager, announced this week.

The biggest addition to the club will be a pier and slips addition of about 150 feet, Farrelly said.

Dredging for the addition will begin in about ten days. The dredging will cover an area 300 by 50 feet, Farrelly said. Work will begin in about ten days and will take ten days.

Pier and slips will be built by August Rauxel of Bay St. Louis, Farrelly said. Approximately 150 feet long, the slips will house 20 more boats.

Farrelly said the demand for rental of slips the past year had been very high and the Yacht Club could not facilitate all requests. However, the addition should serve to satisfy immediate needs, he said.

In addition to the pier work, which will cost $2000, the club will undergo a minor face-lifting job for $500. G. W. Lonnegan has a bulldozer on the premises and grading will begin soon, Farrelly said.

The grounds around the club will be graded and then a retaining wall will be put up around the flower beds.

Top soil will be put and then planting will begin, Farrelly said. Planting should start in about 30 days.

Two additional strips will be built by Rauxel for the fish class boats owned by the club, Farrelly noted. And an attempt will be made to remove debris from in front of the club.

In addition the Ladies Auxiliary has installed gas logs in the fireplace, Farrelly said.
